

Title: The Role of Communication Skills in Effective Office Administration

Authors: Anne Lopez, Gabriel Reyes, Clara Villanueva

Year: 2024

Abstract:

This study investigates the importance of communication skills in enhancing office administration effectiveness. It explores how clear and professional communication impacts task coordination, employee relationships, and overall organizational success.

Introduction:

In office administration, strong communication skills are essential for managing tasks and ensuring smooth workflows. This research focuses on identifying the core communication skills needed by office administrators and their influence on productivity and workplace harmony.

Methodology:

The research utilized surveys and interviews with office staff and administrators, complemented by observational studies in various office environments.

For the full research, contact:

Name: Clara Villanueva

Email: clara.villanueva@example.com

Phone: +1 123-456-7890